

Negro Riot at Lima—Attempt to Rescue the Cleveland Slave Girl.

We have already announced that the girl Lucy was to be returned to her master, and left Cleveland, Ohio, on the train, for her former home. At Lima, an attempt was made to stop the train. The particulars are copy from the Cleveland Herald:

There is no one doubt that the meditated

On the train had been painted for some days, and that every precaution had been taken to make it successful. From expressions dropped by numerous colored people in the city, it was suspected, before the train left, that there would be an attack at some of the side stations. The colored man, C. H. Langston, well known from his connection with the Wellington rescue case, went down to Alliance on Wednesday morning, and returned on Thursday morning.

which be made at Alliance, but at that place a large number of white people could be speedily assembled to put down the negroes, and the train officers could also be notified by telegraph of an intended attack. At Lititz there is no telegraph station, and but few people could be assembled to repel an attack. The negroes from Alliance and from the neighboring points in Stark county, where many negroes and ultra-Abolitionists live, therefore concentrated at Lima as the best point for carrying out the plan.

The Station Master, and such of the white people as were in the vicinity, attempted to dissuade the negroes from their meditated purpose, but were threatened with violence and even death if they interfered. The negroes drew up in lines on each side of the track as the train approached, and presented their guns at the carriages in military style.

Conductor Cleland had prepared for the occasion. The engineer was directed to whistle "down brakes," slacken speed, and

The brakemen, meanwhile, were to pay no attention to the whistle, and were to obey no signals save those given by the Conductor. As the train slackened, the mob prepared for its reception, when suddenly a full head of steam was put on, and the train shot by the station with lightning rapidity, and was soon out of danger. Some of the negroes pointed their guns at prudent management of Conductor Cleveland and the train officers generally is deserving the highest meed of praise. But the course adopted, a terrible conflict was undoubtedly averted.

Foiled at their dastardly attempt at violence and murder, the negroes were much enraged, and endeavored to wreak their vengeance on the railway company. The conductors of both the up and down trains last evening were notified by the Lima station warden that obstructions had been placed upon the train. No obstacles were found, and the trains have run through in good order. The excitement seems now to have subsided. None but the lowest order of negroes participated in the attempt to rescue. One of the negro mob regretted, after the train had passed, that he did not shoot the engineer.

BAILED OUT.—Pat McConnell and Wm. Bush, who were committed to the workhouse in default of bail, were brought in this morning and gave bail.

STEALING A WATCH.—Casper Rider was arrested on a felony warrant sued out by French Pete, charging him with stealing a watch. The case was continued until Monday and the prisoner remanded to jail.

Elizabeth Foster, drunk and disorderly conduct. Sent to the workhouse for two months in default of $100 bail.

STEALING MONEY.—Peter Miller found himself in the cage this morning, charged with stealing $11 from Rebecca Dove. The proof was insufficient, and he was discharged.

On Friday morning last, just at daylight, some of the hands on W. P. Smith's plantation on bayou Cocodra had crossed the bayou to the gin, which is within two hundred yards of the quarters. Just as they were passing the seed house, a panther sprang upon the foremost negro, striking seizing him by the back of the neck, bore him to the ground. The other negroes fled into the gin, shouting: "Murdered murder!" One, however, who was armed with an axe, stood his ground and dealt the panther a heavy blow with his axe. The panther, relinquishing his hold on the prostrate negro, turned on his new assailant, and a sharp battle ensued, when the panther, having received several wounds, concluded that discretion was the better part of valor, and retreating to the side the two negroes, who accepted his proposition for a cessation of hostilities. Being soon reinforced by a detachment from the opposite side of the bayou, with dogs, guns and knives, they returned to the attack and soon placed their adversary hors de combat. It was a female, not of the largest size. A very large male had been killed on the plantation the previous evening.

"confidence" came over a couple of jewelers in Philadelphia, obtaining from one a diamond ring worth $75, and from the other two watches and a ring valued at $440, paying for them with bogus checks on banks. He soon after left the city, leaving behind at his hotel a traveling bag, which was found to be stuffed with old newspapers. The North American says:

Satisfied that the swindler had gone to New York, detective Callahan telegraphed to police superintendent Carpenter, and

In the opinion of detective Callahan this personage is no other than the notorious G. Howard Rand, who in 1881 escaped from Frankfort, Ky., penitentiary, was subsequently concerned in a $20,000 robbery at Saratoga Springs, and has spent

VICTOR EMANUEL PRESENTED WITH THE CAST-OF CROWN OF A DANSEUSE.—A strange affair, says a letter from Turin, has occurred in this city. The Municipality

Emanuel, on his return, a gold circlet representing oak and laurel leaves. But there were only six days to prepare and Italian workmen were not active enough to make it in so short a time. Jew presented himself and offered, for 6,000 francs, a magnificent crown which he had by him. His offer was accepted and the money paid; but lo! the discovery was afterward made that the circlet in question had been bought at a sale of the effects of Fanny Ellsler, the celebrated inside, that it was given to her after a performance at London, by an Englishman who was a fanatical admirer of her dancing. Judge of the effect thus created! Nothing else is talked of in the city.

She is now married to another man, and supports her former husband by retaining him in the family as a servant.

By the secession of twenty-seven Representatives, the House of Representatives is now reduced from two hundred and thirty-seven to two hundred and ten members. This gives the Republicans majority of seven.

John Tyler, who imagined he had

AN IRISH PARLIAMENT.—An address the Queen of England for a separate Irish Parliament, and the right of self-government, has already received over 30,000 signatures in Ireland.

There are fifty-seven cities in

000 inhabitants; twenty-three from 200,000 to 500,000, and twelve which contain above 500,000.

